

Removing the behavioural features costs nothing.
The raw columns barely beat a model with no values at all.

